Subject: New Find: Riedel Crystal Promo

Hello There,

I recently came across a great promotion that Riedel Crystal is having. They currently have some coupon code promotions going on right now that one can use at the Riedel Web Store, where each coupon being offered is for a specific item.

As a frequent reader of your blog I was hoping that maybe you could share this with everyone else who reads it. I have spread the word to some friends but I'm sure anyone else who is reading your blog (those who love wine/beer and wine/beer accessories) would love to know about some great deals. I truly love Riedel's products, and I'm quite positive that there are others out there that appreciate Riedel pieces as well. Therefore, I figured I would share my finding.

Also, from what I understand Riedel is a sponsor of the "2009 American Wine Blog Awards" and so this could make for a very relevant post at this point in time. Whether they are putting the promotions out due to the blog awards or not I am not sure but either way I figured it would be nice for all the wine lovers of your blog to benefit and show their support for a sponsor– That is just a thought.

Below, I have listed the coupon codes I found and a brief description of each item.

Coupon Details:

All coupon codes are 20% off the specific item's total
One time use only (you must create a Free Riedel member account)
All expire: 02/28/2009

There is just one detail that is really important to mention about the coupon codes that is a little different than how most coupon codes work. After you create an account with Riedel, you have to go to the Riedel Web Store shopping cart FIRST, and then enter the coupon code (where the item will be added automatically and the discount will be applied automatically). If you were to go to one of the item pages first and add that item to your shopping cart, and then go to enter the coupon code in your shopping cart, a second item would show up in your cart with the discount being applied to only the item that was added when the coupon code was entered. So you must go to the shopping cart FIRST when you are ready to place your order.

I retrieved all item descriptions from the specific item pages over at the Riedel Web Store. And I am aware that your blog has more of a focus on wine, but I figured I would share the Lager beer glass coupon as well (I enjoy both wine and beer and I'm sure many others do as well). Also, I have attached photos of the items to this e-mail.

Thank you for always providing interesting articles/postings about wine related topics and suggestions! I have truly learned a great deal from your opinions and informational writings!

Sincerely,

A Wine Aficionado
